1. GENERAL

1.1 Geography & Population

Austria covers an area of 83,878 square kilometres with a population of 8,662,588 residents, (as of 2015) including 1,228,124 foreign citizens (14.2 percent of total population), thereof 617,031 EUEEA citizens and Swiss citizens (7.1 percent of total population).

Vienna is the most densely populated province of Austria with 4,335 residents per square kilometre; Tyrol and Carinthia are the least densely populated provinces with 58 inhabitants per square kilometre. The average life expectancy is 81 years.

Austria is bordered by Switzerland, Liechtenstein, Germany, the Czech Republic, Slovakia, Hungary, Slovenia and Italy.

Austria is a federal state comprised of nine provinces; each province has its own capital:

1.2 The Political System

Austria is a democratic republic. The Federal President of Austria is the supreme representative of the state. They represent the Republic of Austria abroad in addition to other duties (acting as Supreme Commander of the Austrian Armed Forces, appointing the Federal Government as well as high-ranking officials of the provinces, etc.).

The legislative body of Austria is the Parliament, which consists of two houses, the National Council (Nationalrat) and the Federal Council (Bundesrat). The Federal Government is headed by the Federal Chancellor who conducts governmental affairs with the assistance of the Vice-Chancellor, federal cabinet ministers and state undersecretaries.

Each province is administered by its own government, headed by a provincial Governor (Landeshauptmann/Landeshauptfrau).

Austria has been a member of the European Union since 1995.

1.3 Climate

Austria has a typical central European transitional climate (warm summers, cold winters and adequate precipitation). Additionally there are two distinct climatic zones in the interior regions of Austria: the east shows a pannonian climate (warm to hot summers, relatively low precipitation and cold winters), while the central Alpine region has the characteristic features of the Alpine climate (as compared to the east, more precipitation in summer and long winters with heavy snowfall).

1.4 Migration & Languages

The number of population originating from other countries has strongly increased in recent years due to migration. German citizens with nearly 215,000 are the largest group amongst the EU/EEA citizens, followed by nationals with place of birth in Romania (91,000), Poland (70,000) and Hungary (61,508). Amongst nationals originating from non-EU/non-EEA states Turkey represents the largest group with nearly 160,000. Many residents originate from the successor states of former Yugoslavia (without Slovenia and Croatia which are now member states of the EU), with the following breakdown: 135,000 from Serbia, 159,000 with place of birth in Bosnia and Herzegovina and around 23,000 from Macedonia. Especially in larger cities you will therefore experience a diversity of languages every day.

German is the official language of Austria and virtually always a prerequisite for participating in the working and economic life of the country. Six autochthon minority groups live in Austria whereby their languages are regionally valid official languages: Slovenian, Burgenland Croatian, Hungarian, Romany, Czech and Slovakian.

English is taught as first foreign language at schools and is currently spoken by many Austrians.

1.5 Leisure Time & Austrian Cuisine

The majority of Austrians spend a significant portion of their leisure time in associations and clubs. Weekends are either spent visiting friends and relatives with family, making excursions, pursuing sporting activities or in clubs and associations. Depending on the facilities, people spend evenings with families, go to the movies, theatre or opera. In rural areas people still meet in a pubs, bars and restaurants. Sporting activities play a major role in leisure time activities; jogging, walking, cycling and swimming being the most popular. Traditionally many communities and municipalities have their own football clubs. Skiing is very popular particularly amongst children and youth in the western Austrian provinces. Sailing, surfing and/or rowing clubs are often found at lakes and other larger waters.
Various clubs and associations are also present in smaller settlements (football, volunteer fire brigades, choirs and singing societies, gymnastics clubs, societies for traditional costumes, bands, scouts, sports clubs, etc.). There are comprehensive cultural facilities (theatre, cinema, arts expositions) and sports facilities (tennis, volleyball, fitness centres, etc.) in larger towns and cities.

In most towns and settlements the catholic and protestant churches offer family, women and children groups for instance on various church related topics. The church is also very often involved in local, regional and cross-regional social projects (e.g. carol singers (Sternsinger)). In towns other religious communities also offer opportunities for social commitment and leisure time activities.

An overview of possible leisure time activities and offerings from clubs and associations can be found in your municipal town hall as well as regional and national daily newspapers.

In smaller settlements, you will find inns and taverns with Austrian specialities (Wiener schnitzel, etc.) and typical regional dishes. In towns and larger villages there are restaurants offering international cuisine; Italian and Asian restaurants as well as Turkish and Asian fast food restaurants being particularly popular.

Meals are served as follows: breakfast between 8 and 10 am; lunch between 11.30 am and 2 pm; dinner between 6 and 8 pm. In rural regions sometimes only small snacks are served outside the regular serving times. In built-up areas and large cities there are numerous restaurants offering warm dishes throughout the day.

1.6 Labour Market Facts & Figures

In the third quarter of 2015 (July–September) an average of 4,209,300 people were in gainful employment; of which 2,231,100 were male and 1,978,100 female.

The quota of 15 year-old and older employed persons, i.e. the proportion of employed persons in all persons in this age group was at 72.1 percent. The part-time employment quota (proportion of persons working less than 36 hours a week according to information provided by them) amounts to 27.6 percent (+0.5 percent compared to the preceding year). The share of female part-time employment lies however at 47 percent.

249,500 unemployed were actively searching for a job and available for placement in the third quarter of 2015. This represents an unemployment quota of 5.6 percent (according to the EU definition of unemployment quota – not seasonally adjusted).

The youth unemployment quota (15 to 24 years old) is 11.2 percent whereas the unemployment quota of elderly people (55 to 64 years old) is 4.5 percent. Individuals with non-Austrian citizenship are also more strongly affected by unemployment (9.9 percent) than Austrian citizens (4.9 percent).
When comparing the provinces unemployment in the third quarter of 2015 is highest in Vienna with an average of 10.7 percent and lowest in Tyrol with 2.8 percent.

2. ARRIVING IN AUSTRIA

2.1 Duty of Registration

Residential registration is mandatory in Austria. Any person establishing their residence in Austria (or moving their place of residence within Austria) is obliged to register with the respective competent authority within three (3) days of establishing the residence.

Responsible authorities to contact in this regard are:
- registration office at your place of residence (municipality office (Gemeindeamt) or in cities municipal district authority (Magistrat))
- in Vienna: the registration office of the municipal district offices (Magistratische Bezirksämter)

The following documents are to be furnished:
- completed registration form (Meldeformular) for each person to be registered; the registration form can be obtained from the responsible registration authorities, in some newsagents/tobacconists (Trafik) or the Internet
- passport and birth certificate
- residence registration certificate(s) (Meldeformular(e)) for any other places of residence

The registration form (Meldeformular) must be signed by the lessee (the property owner or the property management) and the residing person (e.g. tenant), submitted personally or by a person of trust or sent by post to the responsible residence registration authorities (Meldebehörde).

The authorities issue a registration confirmation certificate (Meldebestätigung).

Note: you do not have to specify your religion on the residence registration form and you can leave this category blank.

Upon registering in Austria, your personal data will be automatically saved in the Central Residence Registry (Zentrales Melderegister (ZMR)) and available to authorities. Every person registered in Austria is assigned a dedicated number in the Central Residence Registry (Central Residence Registry Number, “ZMR-Zahl”) which is shown on the residence registration confirmation certificate (Meldebestätigung).

EU/EEA citizens and their family members staying in Austria longer than three months and intending to reside here must additionally apply for a registration certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) (please refer to section 2.2 Residence).

http://www.help.gv.at/ (registration and de-registration of the residence (An-/Abmeldung des Wohnsitzes)) http://www.help.gv.at/ (residence registration forms (Meldeformulare))
2.2 Residence

European Union (EU)/European Economic Area (EEA) citizens and Swiss citizens as well as their family members (if they are EU/EEA citizens or Swiss citizens) do not require a visa or residence permit to enter and stay in Austria as they enjoy both exemption from a visa requirement and freedom of establishment. They can stay in Austria for a maximum of three months provided they have a valid passport or personal ID.

The following applies to longer stays in Austria:

They have:

- to be employed or self-employed/freelancer in Austria, or
- to have sufficient financial funds for yourself and your family members (being a recipient of neither means-tested minimum benefits nor compensatory supplement) as well as comprehensive health insurance coverage, or
- to attend a school or other educational institution including vocational training at a public school or legally recognised private school and have sufficient financial funds as well as comprehensive health insurance coverage.

Within a four month period from entering the country EU/EEA citizens and Swiss citizens have to report taking up of residence to the residence authorities (district administrative authority (Bezirkshauptmannschaft) or the municipal district authority (Magistrat); the authorities will then issue a "registration certificate" (Anmeldebescheinigung) provided that they satisfy the prerequisites. If the family members (spouse, children, partners, etc.) are also EU/EEA citizens or Swiss citizens then taking up of residence must be also registered by means of a "registration certificate" (Anmeldebescheinigung).

EU/EEA and Swiss citizens can apply for an “official photographic identification for EEA citizens” (Lichtbildausweis für EWR-Bürger) with the responsible administrative authority.

For privileged nationals of third states, i.e. family members of EU/EEA citizens who are not EU/EEA/Swiss citizens, special regulations apply. Please contact the residence authorities or consultation services for more details in good time.

The required documents are to be presented in original copy and a court certified translation into German upon application submission.

The competent authority will advise you which documents and application forms are required.

Competent authority:

- District administration authorities (Bezirkshauptmannschaft) or municipal district authorities (Magistrat)
- In Vienna: department 35 of the municipal district authority (Magistratsabteilung 35, MA 35)

2.3 Bringing Domestic and Household Pets into Austria

When bringing dogs, cats and ferrets to Austria from abroad the animals must be chipped with a microchip and the owner must present a pet passport.

Dog owners with residence in Austria are to pay fees called “dog tax” (“Hundesteuer”). The dog tax fee depends on the place of residence. Details can be obtained from the responsible municipality office (Gemeindeamt) or office of the municipal district authority (Magistratisches Bezirksamt) (in Vienna: department 6 of the municipal district authorities, MA 6). In virtually all Austrian municipalities dogs have to wear a muzzle and be on the leash in public. All dogs kept in Austria must be identified (i.e. chipped) and registered. Legal regulations related to the keeping of “fighting” dogs must be observed.

3. LIVING CONDITIONS

3.1 Comparable Price Levels of Living Costs

Austria’s currency is the Euro (€), one Euro is comprised of 100 cents.

The system of comparable price levels allows comparison of the purchasing power between national currencies. The comparable price levels also indicate whether a country is cheap or expensive compared with the average (EU 28 = 100).

3.3 Retail Business Hours

Shops are generally open from 9 am until 6 pm in Austria; supermarkets open at 7.30 am and close partly at 7 or 7.30 pm. Some shopping centres have also longer opening hours.

Shops are closed on Sundays. In larger cities you can however go shopping in shopping malls located at the railway stations for instance. You can also buy foodstuffs at many petrol stations on Sundays and holidays.

You can pay by debit card (Bankomatkarte) or credit card in most large shops and/or supermarkets.

3.4 Opening a Bank Account

You are required to present valid identification with photo (passport) in order to open a current account (an account to which your salary is paid “Gehaltskonto”); Austrian citizens may also present a personal ID or driving license (Personalausweis or Führerschein).

More details are available at banks and financial institutions.

3.5 Motor Vehicles

You must always carry a reflective safety vest in fluorescent yellow or orange, a breakdown triangle and vehicle first-aid case (“Autoapotheke”, “Erste-Hilfe-Kasten”).

From first of November through fifteenth of April the vehicle are to be equipped with winter tires to comply with the weather based mandatory regulations (snow and ice covered roads).

All persons travelling in a vehicle must wear seat belts in Austria.

Vehicle operators are to ensure that children of age under fourteen or shorter than 150cm are appropriately securely seated in the vehicle (“child safety seat”).

Austrian motorways are subject to toll fees, the required motorway vignette can be purchased at motorway service stations and newsagents/tobacconists (Trafik).

On Austrian motorways and roads motor vehicle operators are obliged to keep an “emergency lane” free between the actual driving lanes (“Rettungsgasse (rescue lane)”) when a traffic jam starts building up to ensure unobstructed deployment of emergency services vehicles.

3.5.1 Driving License

Driving licenses which have been issued in other EU/EEA countries are also valid in Austria. You must report every change of address (primary residence address, Hauptwohnsitz) to the authority responsible for the area of your principal residence. The following applies to Swiss citizens: the driving license must be reissued within six months by the competent regional district administrative authority and/or competent traffic & transportation office (Verkehrsamtsamt), or the Federal Police Headquarters (Bundespolizeidirektion).

3.5.2 Motor Vehicle Licenses

Individuals with a main place of residence outside of Austria may operate a motor vehicle or trailer with foreign registration plates in Austria for a maximum of one year. When your stay in Austria exceeds one year and the centre of your vital interests also moves to Austria, then you will have to re-register the foreign vehicle.

When relocating to Austria you are allowed to drive a vehicle with foreign registration plates for one month; within this period you must apply for official Austrian vehicle registration papers.

In the case of imported vehicles with EU vehicle type approval certificate the approval details must be entered into the vehicle type approval database. If no EU vehicle type approval certificate applies to the vehicle (generally for type approval certificates issued before 1st of January 1996), you have to obtain a technical data registration document (Typenschein) for such a vehicle.

If a vehicle is approved for traffic for the very first time in Austria you have to pay the NoVA tax (car registration tax based on standardised fuel consumption (Normverbrauchsabgabe)).

After having the vehicle registered in the license approval database and/or obtaining a technical data registration document and payment of the car registration tax based on standardised fuel consumption (NoVA), you can have your vehicle registered with any vehicle registration and admission to traffic department (Zulassungsstelle) of an insurance company.

Subsequently, you must take out third-party insurance with one of the many insurance companies or furnish a proof of already existing insurance coverage. Within the EU there is freedom of choice regarding motor vehicle insurance companies. The motor vehicle can be insured in any EU member state with an authorised insurance company. The final traffic registration is performed at the registration department of your selected insurance company.

For more details related to importing motor vehicles to Austria consult the technical inspection offices of the authorities of the respective provincial government.

3.6.2 Important Details regarding Housing

In Austria over 40 percent of new housing is comprised of detached and semi-detached houses and more than 50 percent of new flats are in residential buildings divided into several flats. In towns and built-up areas there are large numbers of rented, housing association and owner-occupied flats in multi-storey buildings; detached and semi-detached houses predominate in rural areas.

Apartment rents vary depending on the region. The average housing expenses of an average apartment (rent per square meter including operating costs) were least expensive in Burgenland at 5.44 Euros per square meter in 2015 and most expensive in Salzburg at 8.66 Euros per square meter in 2015. Rent per square meter depends on various factors such as proximity to transport, infrastructure, residential area and fittings, fixtures and furnishings.

Small apartments are often more expensive comparing the price per square meter than large apartments. On top of the rent you have to pay operating costs (approximately 25 percent of the net rent) as well as heating and electricity.

Rents for the majority of principal-tenant housing (Hauptmietwohnung), council housing (Gemeindewohnung) and association housing (Genossenschaftswohnung) are regulated throughout Austria by the Rent Law Act (Mietrechtsgesetz); whereas detached houses are generally not regulated by the Rent Law Act. Exception: statutory periods of notice are also valid for detached houses.

Before you conclude a rental or purchase agreement, it is advisable to seek out an appropriate consultation agency (Tenant Associations (Mietervereinigungen), Austrian Tenant Protection Association (Mieterschutzverband)) in order to verify the legal validity of the agreement. The aforesaid consultation agencies will assist you in all issues related to rental law.

3.6.4 Eligibility for Council Housing (Gemeindewohnungen)

Eligibility preconditions (Zugangsbestimmungen) for social housing vary throughout Austria. Details can be obtained from the municipal offices (Gemeindeamt) and competent municipal district authorities in cities (Magistrat).

http://www.help.gv.at/ (council housing (Gemeindewohnungen))

3.6.5 Eligibility for Housing Association Accommodation (Genossenschaftswohnungen)

Housing association accommodation (Genossenschaftswohnungen) receives special support, often through a purchase option. The tenants are members of the housing association and pay a “cooperative share” (Genossenschaftsanteil) which is determined by the size and age of the accommodation.

4. SEEKING EMPLOYMENT IN AUSTRIA

EU/EEA citizens, Swiss citizens and their family members (spouses, children, stepchildren and adopted children, etc.) are entitled to live and work in Austria without work permits in accordance with the principle of “free movement of labour” (special regulations apply to Croatia).

4.1 Seeking Employment from the EU/EEA Countries and Switzerland in Austria; Seeking Employment by Citizens of Third Countries

Prior to coming to Austria, job seekers can obtain information and use various services on the Internet:

- seeking employment, province information, regional job opportunities using EURES
- seeking employment using the AMS (Public Employment Service Austria) website; you can also register online in the eJob-Room
- AMS (Public Employment Service Austria) services: career focus test (career compass (Berufskompass)), interactive application training, application coach (application tips, etc.)
- information provided by the AMS (Public Employment Service Austria): career information database (BIS, Berufsinformationsdatenbank), career lexica, qualifications barometer (Qualifikationsbarometer; labour market trends, opportunities on the Austrian labour market based on qualifications), further education database (Weiterbildungsdatenbank), career information centres (Berufsinformationszentrum, BIZ), barrier-free access to AMS offices, unemployment benefits
- Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) information for young people: workroom (Arbeitszimmer), Your Choice
- employment seekers can obtain information on claiming unemployment benefits from the employment service or the competent authority in their home country (also see section 8.4.2)
- English information on services provided by the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS), residence, living and working conditions can be found on http://www.ams.at/

For citizens of third countries:

http://www.migration.gv.at/en/ (working of qualified third country citizens, the Red-White-Red card (rot-weiß-rot Karte))

After arriving in Austria you have to observe the following when seeking employment:

- to be able to claim unemployment benefits from your country of origin in Austria (such as unemployment benefits) it is necessary to personally register at the competent office in Austria
- assistance during employment seeking as well as career advisory services can also be received personally from the competent offices
- contact the AMS (Public Employment Service Austria) competent for your place of residence

4.2 EURES (European Employment Services)

You can find out about job vacancies in Austria and obtain other information about Austria by contacting the EURES network at the competent employment service office in the EU/EEA countries/Switzerland.

The EURES website informs job seekers amongst others about living and working conditions as well as job opportunities in the individual regions of the EU/EEA states and in Switzerland as well as lists job vacancies. Additionally you can post your personal CV online which can then be viewed by potential employers.
More than 1,000 specially trained EURES advisers work in the public employment services in all EU/EEA countries and Switzerland to support and advise citizens seeking a job in another EU/EEA country or Switzerland. You can find your EURES advisers responsible for the desired region using the EURES website.

http://eures.europa.eu (EURES website)

4.3 Public Employment Service Austria (AMS)

The public labour administration services, better known as the Arbeitsmarktservice (AMS) (Public Employment Service Austria), offer their services at local AMS offices.

The Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) is responsible for consultation, job referral, unemployment insurance benefits (such as unemployment benefits (Arbeitslosengeld)) for persons who are permanent residents of Austria and are currently residing in Austria.

Job seekers and unemployed persons may register at their local Public Employment Service Austria office (the competence follows their principal residence, also see http://www.ams.at).

On the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) website you can also find amongst others the following services and more details regarding

- eJob-Room:
  The eJob-Room offers an overview of all vacant positions in Austria and the EEA countries reported to the Public Employment Service Austria, AMS. You can search for a particular position by selecting the requested employment form, place of work, commencement date of employment, occupational groups/occupations. This service is available to both registered and unregistered users.

  Note: You can also register for the eJob-Room even when your place of residence is still outside Austria.

  Registered users are additionally offered the following services:
  - use of the extended job vacancies listing (the eJob-Room vacancies)
  - apprenticeship seekers can create personality and interests profiles; these profiles will be then compared with corporate requirements profiles and a level of compliance determined

- AMS Job Robot (AMS-Jobroboter):
  Additionally, the AMS Job Robot (AMS-Jobroboter) allows you to search for vacancies on corporate sites on the internet. It works just like a search engine, looking on Austrian corporate websites for vacancies using specially developed criteria.

- The free AMS JOB APP:
  delivers vacancies from the AMS eJob-Room directly to your smartphone. This enables you to search for vacancies or apprenticeship placements, and get informed on new matching vacancies through push messaging. All APP functions are available without registration. eJob-Room offers are free of charge.

4.5 Private Recruitment Agencies

The role of private recruitment agencies is growing. Primarily highly qualified positions are nearly exclusively offered on the market through HR consulting companies and agencies. The Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) cooperates with a large number of these agencies. At the website of the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) you can also find links to the job-exchanges (Jobbörsen) of many large companies.

http://www.ams.at/ (vacancies through private recruitment agencies and head hunters (Job über private Arbeits-/Personalvermittler))

4.6 “Hidden” Labour Market

Some of the job vacancies or newspaper job ads never reach the offices of the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS). Therefore, it may prove worthwhile to send unsolicited letters (i.e. without any reference to a specific job advertisement) to potentially interested employers.

http://www.herold.at (addresses of enterprises and businesses)
http://www.ams.at/ (corporate vacancy exchanges (Jobbörsen von Firmen))
http://www.ams.at/ (telephone/business directories (Telefon-/Branchenverzeichnisse))

It is also recommended to ask your neighbours, relatives, friends and acquaintances whether they know about any vacant positions.

4.7 Au Pairs

Young people from abroad may work in Austria as an au pair for a specified period of time. Au pairs are accepted in the host family and integrated into everyday family life. In addition to working in the household and performing childcare, the au pair has to attend a language school or another course. Essential prerequisites for working as an au pair are as follows:

- age of 18 to 27 years
- prior childcare experience as well as enjoying working with children is an asset
- the scope of employment and the commercial reimbursement is appropriate for working as an au pair
- minimum skills in German (school level or one semester studies or language course) demonstrated through certificates to be presented
- readiness to adjust to other cultures and different lifestyles
- readiness to help with childcare and light housework
- use of an authorised agency when referred to an au pair position
- maximum of one year employment as au pair in Austria in the last five years

The Housemaid and Domestic Workers Act (Hausgehilfen- und Hausangestelltengesetz, HGHAG) regulates employment of au pairs. The remuneration follows the minimum wage tariff for au pairs. Most au pair agencies assist au pairs with formalities prior to the au pair assignment (selection of host family, arrival to Austria etc.) as well as during their assignment (contact in case of problems, organisation of periodic au pair meetings etc.)

Employment of au pairs requires registration with the legally prescribed social security institution (gesetzliche Sozialversicherung, Federal Act on General Social Insurance (ASVG)).

Au pairs from the EU/EEA states and Switzerland enjoy freedom of establishment and do not require a residence permit. EU/EEA citizens have to apply for a registration certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) from the competent immigration, citizenship and registry office (Aufenthaltsbehörde) (district administrative authority (Bezirkshauptmannschaft) or the competent municipal district authority (Magistrat) for a stay exceeding three months.
The host family must obtain a confirmation authorising au pair employment (Anzeigenbestätigung) from the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) (http://www.ams.at/).

- http://www.ams.at/ (au pair informative sheet (Info Blatt Au pair))
- http://www.ams.at/ (standard form of au pair contract (Au pair Mustervertrag))

Contact the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) or any of AMS local offices to obtain additional information about working as an au pair for citizens of non-EU/non-EEA countries (a special residence permit is required).

Au pairs from third countries are not admitted to the regular labour market and do not obtain any entitlement to work nor any right to free access to the labour market after expiry of their au pair contract. The host family is also not entitled to continue the employment of the au pair.

https://www.help.gv.at/ (au pairs)

4.8 Seasonal Workers

The demand for seasonal workers is concentrated in the area of tourism as well as agriculture and forestry and can only be partially met by the Austrian workforce. There is especially a recurrent need for experienced harvesters (e.g. asparagus or grape harvesting) from spring to autumn in the Eastern regions of Austria (Lower Austria, Upper Austria, Burgenland and Vienna) which are predominantly characterized by intensive land cultivation. Experienced skilled workers (skilled restaurant workers, cooks) as well as auxiliary workers with professional experience (kitchen help, cleaning staff, housekeeping staff, waitress help, bartenders etc.) are especially sought after in the winter sport regions of Western Austria from November to March, and in all tourist regions throughout Austria from May to October.

In the area of tourism, special labour law provisions are effective (e.g. specific working time during the week or month, respective regulations concerning rest breaks and days off.)

Information on your rights and obligations as an employee should be obtained from the Chamber of Labour and trade unions prior to starting a new job.

4.9 Croatian Citizens on the Austrian Labour Market

EU citizens except for Croatian citizens have free access to the Austrian labour market and no longer require a work permit.

Transition periods apply to Croatian citizens; when intending seeking employment on the Austrian labour market

- and have not yet found a job, the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) website is available;
- and have already found a job, employers must apply to the AMS for an employment permit (Beschäftigungsbewilligung) except if eligible for receiving a freedom of movement confirmation (Freizügigkeitsbestätigung).
Note: Croatian citizens able to furnish a Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) confirmation of their free access to the labour market (“freedom of movement confirmation” (Freizügigkeitsbestätigung)) may be employed without an employment permit (Beschäftigungsbewilligung); i.e. they are entitled to free job selection in Austria.

Please note! Specific labour market access regulations are valid for Croatians with key qualifications as well as Croatian seasonal workers.

No visa or residence permit is required for Croatian citizens to enter Austria. If however their intended stay in Austria exceeds three months, they have to apply for a registration certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) (also see section 2.2 Residence).

http://www.ams.at/ (downloads and forms (Downloads und Formulare))

4.10 Applications

Letters of application and curriculum vitae should be drafted in German unless the job vacancy advertisement specifically requests that application documents be prepared in another language.

If you have made any arrangements – irrespective of whether on the phone or in person – for a job interview, you should bring your CV, diplomas and work certificates to the appointment. Contact the Public Employment Service Austria website (“Online Application Coach (online Bewerbungscoach)” at http://bewerbungsportal.ams.or.at/) if you need any assistance drafting your application.

A complete application includes:

- a letter of application
- a resume (Curriculum Vitae) or Europass
- certificates (Maturazeugnis (A-level/high school certificates), work certificates/references and/or course certificates or confirmation of attendance of relevant technical courses and seminars)
- applicant’s photograph

5. TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF EMPLOYMENT

5.1 Labour Law – Overview

Austrian labour law covers the rights and obligations of employees. This includes amongst others the following legal regulations and acts of law:

- Salaried Employees Act (Angestelltengesetz)
- Labour Relations Act (Arbeitsverfassungsgesetz)
- Waged Employees Severance Pay Act (Arbeiter-Abfertigungsgesetz)
- Employment Safeguarding Act (Arbeitsplatzsicherungsgesetz)
- Alien Employment Act (Ausländerbeschäftigungsgebet)
- Act on Continued Payment of Wages and Salaries (Entgeltfortzahlungsgesetz)
- Equal Treatment Act (Gleichbehandlungsgesetz)
- Maternity Protection Act (Mutterschutzgesetz)
- Vacation Act (Urlaubsgesetz)
- Federal Act on Work Safety and Health Protection at Work (ArbeitnehmerInnenschutzgesetz, ASchG)
- Working Hours Act (Arbeitszeitgesetz)

[Links to Austrian Chambers of Labour: Work & Law and Austrian Trade Union Federation]

5.2 Bodies representing Employees

5.2.1 Chamber of Labour and Austrian Trade Unions

Employees are automatically members of the Chamber of Labour which provides them with legal representation if necessary. There is also the possibility of joining a trade union through an application process.

The Chamber of Labours as well as Austrian trade unions represent the social, economic, professional and cultural interests of employees in Austria. They are independent democratic institutions.

Services offered by the Chamber of Labour and trade unions include amongst others:

- defence and recovery representation at labour and social courts (Arbeits- und Sozialgericht)
- legal consultation regarding
  - labour law regulations (Arbeitsrecht)
  - apprentice and youth protection
  - unemployment
  - social security (such as retirement matters)
  - wage and salary tax matters
  - minimum wage
  - collective agreements
- basic protection and consultation regarding
  - employee protection
  - environmental protection
  - consumer protection

The Austrian Chamber of Labour offers legal assistance free of charge, both on the phone and on their premises related to many issues under the Austrian Labour Act, industrial safety, minimum wages and consumer protection. The Austrian Trade Union Federation normally offers counselling services to their members; non-members can obtain once-only free-of-charge legal advice.
The Chamber of Labour and trade unions are part of the so-called economic and social partnership and negotiate issues related to salaries/wages and prices with the Federal Chamber of Commerce as well as Chamber of Agriculture. They assist the government in drafting legislation and factual issues which fall under the responsibility of social interest groups. Trade unions negotiate amongst others the collective agreements for various industry sectors within the framework of the social partnership. A collective agreement (Kollektivvertrag) is an agreement annually renegotiated for all employees within a certain sector by the trade unions with the employers (Chamber of Commerce). A collective agreement sets equal minimum standards for wages and salaries (“minimum wages”) and working conditions for all employees within a certain sector.

Please contact the legal department of your provincial chamber of labour or provincial trade union representation for more details on minimum wages and salaries applicable to a certain sector.

All trade unions (trade unions of different branches) are part of the Austrian Trade Union Federation (Österreichischen Gewerkschaftsbund (ÖGB)), the Austrian Federation of Chambers of Labour (Arbeiterkammer Österreich) is the umbrella organisation which incorporates all Austrian Chambers of Labour.

5.2.2 Works Council

Employees can be represented in the enterprise by works councils. The works council is the central representative body of the company’s staff. The works council represents the staff in contact with the company owner/employer. Works council members have for instance a right of co-determination regarding amongst others recruitment, termination and dismissal of employees.

http://www.betriebsraete.at/ (works council (Betriebsrat))

5.3 Employment Forms

Austrian labour law distinguishes between the following forms of employment:

- Employment contract (Arbeitsvertrag): concluded between an employer and an employee.
- Short-term contracts as independent contractors: concluded between a principal (customer) and an independent contractor;
- Contract for work and labour and "employee-like" workers: includes both those employed on the basis of a contract for work and services (WerkvertragsnehmerInnen), who require a business license and in certain cases “new self-employed persons” (Neue Selbständige)

5.3.1 Employment Contract and Position Specifications Statement

An employment contract (Arbeitsvertrag) is defined as a binding arrangement whereby one person undertakes to perform work for another person. The conclusion of an employment contract is not subject to any formal requirements. The employment contract may be concluded in writing, by oral agreement or conclusive action (e.g. taking up the position followed by subsequent remuneration).

Exception: Apprenticeship contracts (Lehrverträge) must be concluded in writing!

When no written employment contract is concluded, the employer is to pass on a written record of major rights and obligations arising from this employment agreement to the employee, the so-called position specification statement (Dienstzettel) immediately after the commencement of the employment. The position specification statement is free of charge and serves the purpose of documenting proof.

The minimum content of the position specification statement is legally prescribed. The employer is also legally obliged to issue a position specification statement.

Independent contractors are also entitled to receive a position specification statement (Dienstzettel). A sample position specification statement can be found on http://www.arbeiterkammer.at/ under "specimen letter (Musterbrief)".

5.3.1.1 Working Hours and Vacation Entitlements

According to law, full-time employment (Vollzeitarbeit) is:

- a working day of eight (8) hours (within a 24-hour period)
- a weekly working time of forty (40) hours (working period from Monday to Sunday inclusive)

Collective agreements (Kollektivverträge) have shortened the working week in many branches of business. A surcharge of a minimum of fifty percent (50%) or compensatory time off is applicable for overtime work.

If the daily working time exceeds six hours, it must be interrupted by a half an hour break. This break is unpaid and is not included in the working hours.

Other working hours arrangements including minimum income employment (geringfügige Beschäftigung), part-time employment, seasonal employment etc. are possible.

Employees are granted a vacation entitlement (Urlaubsanspruch) for at least five weeks (= thirty business days respectively twenty-five working days) per working year; this also applies to minimum income employees and part-time employees.

If set forth in the collective bargaining agreement or employment contract, an employee in Austria is paid in addition to the monthly salary a vacation bonus also referred to as vacation allowance (Urlaubszuschuss or Urlaubsbeihilfe) (so-called 14th monthly salary) and a Christmas bonus (Weihnachtsremuneration) (so-called 13th salary), each amounting to a full monthly salary.
Please note: There is no legal entitlement to the vacation bonus (so-called 13th salary) and the Christmas bonus (so-called 14th salary). You are only entitled to these bonus payments when this has been contractually agreed.

The vacation bonus is not the same as the vacation remuneration (Urlaubsentgelt) which is the remuneration an employee is entitled to despite the fact they do not perform any work during this time.

The vacation remuneration is comprised of the basic wage/salary and other remuneration components (such as bonuses, commissions, piece based wages, allowances and overtime remuneration) amounting to the average of the last fully worked thirteen weeks. Allowances such as mileage allowance (Kilometergeld) and expense allowance (Diäten) will not be included therein.

5.3.1.2 Termination

Every employee who has concluded an employment contract or has a position specifications statement is protected by Austrian labour law through the termination notice periods and termination dates. Termination notice periods and termination dates are mostly regulated by collective agreements and employer/works council agreements; they are otherwise regulated by the Salaried Employees Act (Angestelltengesetz) or the Civil Code (Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, ABGB).

The termination date is the date on which the employment is to end, i.e. the last day of the employment and not the day when you presented your employment termination notice.

The termination notice period is the time between the presentation of employment termination notice (either oral or written termination) and the termination date.

Termination by the Employer

For salaried employees: the Salaried Employees Act (Angestelltengesetz) regulates the minimum termination notice periods and termination dates. The stipulations of the Austrian Civil Code (Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, ABGB) are applicable to minimum income employees with working time of less than one fifth of working time under full employment.

For waged employees: the termination notice is two weeks pursuant to the Austrian Civil Code (Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch, ABGB); however, the collective agreements, employer/works council agreements, employment agreements normally foresee longer respectively in some cases even shorter termination notice periods.

Termination by the Employee

For waged employees: one month (at the end of the month) or as regulated by the respective employment contract, works council agreement or collective bargaining agreement

For waged employees: two (2) weeks (Austrian Civil Code, ABGB) or as regulated by the respective employment contract, works council agreement or collective bargaining agreement

For minimum-income employees (geringfügig Beschäftigte): two (2) weeks (Austrian Civil Code, ABGB) unless otherwise agreed
When your employment has been terminated you can appeal against the termination under certain circumstances. It is decisive however to immediately after a written or oral termination notice contact the works council, the Chamber of Labour or your trade union representative.

Please note: When appealing against a termination notice you have to observe deadlines.

5.3.2 Persons Working on Short-Term Contracts as Independent Contractors

Employment based on a short-term contract as an independent contractor (freier Dienstvertrag) is characterised as follows:

- no or low level of personal dependence
- independent contractors may engage subcontractors to fulfil their obligations
- they can use their own resources
- they are not incorporated into the corporate organisation
- they are normally paid by the hour

In contrast to the contract for work and labour, there is no warranty to produce a certain work. Independent contractors working on short-term contracts with a monthly remuneration exceeding the minimum salary limit (in 2016: €415.72) have to be registered by the employer with the competent regional health insurance fund and hence enjoy health insurance coverage. They are entitled to sickness benefits starting with the fourth day of occupational incapacity; they thus enjoy accident, unemployment and pension insurance as well as are subject to the Law on Insurance against Non-Payment in case of Insolvency (Insolvenzentgeltsicherungsgesetz, IESG) stipulations. Independent contractors are also entitled to receive a position specification statement (Dienstzettel).

Please note: independent contractors only enjoy limited protection under the Austrian Labour Law. Without an appropriate agreement between the employer and the independent contractor there is however no legal entitlement to special benefits, vacation, a release from performance obligation and protection against dismissal. The Civil Code regulations (Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch (ABGB)) are however analogously applicable hereto regarding termination notice periods. They may receive severance pay when the applicable prerequisites have been satisfied and are subject to the Corporate Employee and Freelancer Pension Act (Betriebliches Mitarbeiter- und Selbständigungsvorsorgegesetz, BMSVG).

The employer must take out accident insurance for any persons receiving remuneration below the legally stipulated limit (minimum income employees) (monthly income up to €415.72 in 2016). Taking out voluntary health and pension insurance is possible; persons receiving remuneration below the legally stipulated limit have to apply at the competent regional health insurance fund themselves. Independent contractors have to pay income taxes when their annual income exceeds a certain amount. They are classified as entrepreneurs and have to apply for a tax identification number with the responsible fiscal authorities.

http://www.arbeiterkammer.at/ (short-term employment contract as an independent contractor (freier Dienstvertrag))
http://www.arbeiterkammer.at/ (brochure: Persons working on short-term contracts as independent contractors (Broschüre: Freie DienstnehmerInnen))
https://www.usp.gv.at/ (persons working on short-term contracts as independent contractors (Freie Dienstnehmer))
5.3.3 Contract for Work & Labour and New Self-Employed

Pursuant to the Austrian Civil Code (Allgemeines Bürgerliches Gesetzbuch (ABGB)), in a contract for work and labour (Werkvertrag), a contractor undertakes to carry out a particular service or work and receives agreed remuneration in return. In contrast to the employment contract or persons working as independent short-term contractors, in the contract for work and labour the result of the performance rendered is decisive. The contractor is responsible for successfully performing the works (i.e. the specified service) or achieving a specific result.

Characteristics of contracts for work and labour:

- personal and economic independence from the party ordering the works (principal)
- no obligation to perform the work or service personally (sub-contracting is allowed)
- the contractor (WerkunternehmerIn, approximate equivalent of contract assignee) uses their own resources
- they are not incorporated into the corporate organisation of the party ordering the works

The contract for work and labour is deemed fulfilled with the performance of the contractual works. The completion of the agreed works and/or achievement of the result are deemed as automatic satisfaction of the obligation.

Irrespective of your income you are to register with the Social Security Institution for Trade and Industry (Sozialversicherungsanstalt der Gewerblichen Wirtschaft, SVA) since the insurance is mandatory.

“New self-employed” are persons receiving taxable income from independent work running a business.

The legal classification of the “new self-employed” is regulated by the Social Security Law (Sozialversicherungsrecht). “New self-employed” are persons in gainful employment which are not covered by any social security act pursuant to other stipulations (e.g. as an employee, independent contractor with a short-term contract, or businessperson).

“New self-employed persons” (freelancers, (Neue Selbständige)) perform any type of commercial services not requiring a business license (Gewerbeschein) and which are not services rendered by independent contractors working on a short-term contracts. This category includes professionals such as: authors, experts and consultants, translators and psychotherapists.

The mandatory insurance of the “new self-employed” covers pension, health and accident insurance as well as enjoy coverage within the framework of self-employed insurance; special regulations apply regarding unemployment benefits.

They have to pay social security contributions if

- their annual earnings exceed €4,988.64 (2016)
- The insurance limits do not apply in case of additional freelance contracts requiring compulsory insurance with the Social Security Institution for Trade and Industry (Sozialversicherungsanstalt der Gewerblichen Wirtschaft), for instance as a businessperson.

“New self-employed persons” with contracts for work and labour are always to report their activities to the Social Security Institution for Trade and Industry (Sozialversicherung der Gewerblichen Wirtschaft, SVA).

5.4 Educational Leave & Educational Part-Time Employment

You can go on education leave after a minimum employment period of six months provided that the employer agrees thereto. There is no legal entitlement. The minimum duration is two months; maximum educational leave is twelve months. If you want to take out shorter educational leave, then each leave must be minimum two months. The complete educational leave can be consumed within four years.

During this leave period, wages/salary are not paid; instead, employees receive an educational allowance from the Public Employment Service Austria in the amount of unemployment benefits they would have otherwise received. Participation in further education courses of a minimum 20 hours per week is necessary.

Educational part-time employment allows taking educational courses while maintaining your employment. You agree with the employer on the reduction of the working hours to participate in educational training. A written agreement between the employee and employer specifying the starting point, duration, scope and location of part-time employment.

5.5 Family Hospice & Filial Leaves

Family hospice means that employees are entitled to care for terminally ill family members, their life partners as well as their severely ill children living in the same household for a fixed period and either stay off work completely or reduce their working hours to part-time employment (part-time family hospice leave (Familienhospizteilzeit) or change the working times assignment.

Individuals taking out family hospice leave are legally entitled to a filial leave benefit (Pflegekarenzgeld). Employees can agree on family filial leave with their employers to care for relatives for a period of one to three months. For the period of interrupted employment a filial leave benefit (Pflegekarenzgeld) will be paid in an equivalent way to unemployment benefits. Employees are eligible to apply for filial leave starting with care level 3 respectively care level 1 for minors or in cases of dementia. Employed relatives may take filial leave only once; however again if the condition of the person to be cared for deteriorates. During this period the health and pension insurance remain in force. The employer must consent to this arrangement since currently there is no legally prescribed entitlement to filial leave or part-time filial leave.
Part-time filial leave (Pflegeteilzeit) allows reducing working hours if a relative requires care at home.

6. RECOGNITION OF FOREIGN GRADUATION CERTIFICATES & LICENSES

6.1 General

Occupational recognition (recognition of licenses) for regulated professions

The 2005/36/EC directive on recognition of occupational qualifications only applies to the so-called regulated profession qualifications of EU/EAA citizens and Swiss citizens. This regulation also applies to third-country citizens with completed EU/EAA or Swiss training under certain circumstances.

A profession is deemed regulated when commencement or practicing of such is linked to certain qualifications pursuant to legal or administrative regulations. The required qualifications are based on different educational levels depending on the profession. The list of regulated professions contains around 100 designations. It is state’s responsibility to define the respective regulated professions and the corresponding admission regulations. Within the EU/EEA and Switzerland the regulated profession qualifications of applicants originating from these states must be recognised when the applicants are entitled to practice their profession there. In such cases no occupational recognition procedure is required and hence not possible. Furthermore, nostrification is neither required for admission to post-graduate studies.

Nostrification is to be understood as recognition of graduation at a foreign university as equivalent to graduating from a bachelor, master, diploma or doctorate course at an Austrian university, college or university of applied sciences. This means that they are deemed fully equivalent to graduating from an Austrian university and entitle to using the corresponding Austrian academic degree and practicing the profession which requires graduation from a university in Austria.

If you are not entitled to practice your profession in your home country or your current place of residence, you have to apply for an occupational recognition of procedure to obtain entitlement to practice a regulated profession. If for instance the prerequisites for practicing as an architect have to be satisfied through registration on an appropriate list and this is not the case, then you have not yet obtained an entitlement to practice this profession in Spain and have to complete the recognition procedure in Austria.

University graduation certificates:

Graduates from universities within the EU/EAA/Switzerland do not need to apply for recognition of their diplomas unless they want to work in the public sector and/or practice one of the legally regulated professions (see above).

Please contact ENIC NARIC Austria and/or the citizens service of the Federal Ministry of Science, Research and Economy (Bundesministerium für Wissenschaft, Forschung und Wirtschaft) to clarify any issues related to recognition of foreign university graduation diplomas, appraisal of foreign higher education qualifications, recommendations related to general university entry qualifications and confirmation for using academic titles.

Citizens service (Bürgerservice): recognition of higher education qualifications +43 800 312500 (within Austria)
http://wissenschaft.bmwfw.gv.at (ENIC NARIC Austria)

Questions related to appraisal of professional training etc. can be submitted electronically at https://www.aais.at/. Appraisal of foreign higher education graduation diplomas can represent any alternative to nostrification proceedings. It is not binding but relatively easily to obtain (non-bureaucratically). Academic appraisal of foreign diplomas can be for instance quite supportive when seeking employment, applying and having an interview at the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS).
Equivalence of completed apprenticeship training:

Occupational qualifications as set forth in the Vocational Training Act (Berufsausbildungsgesetz, BAG) obtained at school and/or at work – irrespective whether in an EAA country or not, are set as equivalent to completed Austrian apprenticeship training. A corresponding application must be submitted to the Federal Ministry of Science, Research and Economy (Bundesministerium für Wissenschaft, Forschung und Wirtschaft).

The application for determining equivalence of training – provided it is not rejected – can return the following

- determination of full equivalence
- admission to practical part of the final apprenticeship exam
- admission to extraordinary complete final apprenticeship exam

http://www.bmwfw.gv.at/ (equivalence of a foreign final apprenticeship exam (Gleichhaltung einer ausländischen Lehrabschlussprüfung))

School graduation certificates:

An EU directive on recognition of occupational qualifications is applicable within the EU/EAA/ Switzerland allowing direct access to the labour market. If you wish to start working directly based on the occupational qualifications gained at school no nostrification is required.

Nostrification of foreign school certificates and graduation certificates aims at achieving as far as possible equivalence of the contents of presented certificates with the current Austrian curriculum. Any deviations have to be remedied through taking complementary examinations. The respective departments at the Federal Ministry of Education and Women’s Affairs (Bundesministerium für Bildung und Frauen) have the certificate recognition competencies.

Foreign high-school graduation certificates issued by EU/EEA countries and Switzerland are seen as equivalent to those issued in Austria when they are required for admission to an Austrian university. These certificates however must be issued by foreign educational institutions showing no major differences in comparison with the Austrian educational system. If any differences are determined, the university or the university admissions commission may declare these as equivalent for the purpose of being admitted to studying after for instance having passed appropriate additional examinations.

7. TAXES

7.1 Income Tax and Employee Tax Assessment

Any person who maintains their principal residence in Austria is liable to pay taxes on all income derived from both foreign and domestic sources unless the relevant double taxation treaty is deemed applicable thereto. Double taxation treaties prevent multiple tax payments for the same income when you have residence in several countries or receive income from several countries. The double taxation treaty regulates the country entitled to taxing the income (a list of double taxation treaties can be found on the website of the Ministry of Finance).

Austria has concluded double-taxation treaties with all of its neighbouring countries and the EU/EEA countries. EU/EEA citizens with no main place of residence in Austria however main source of income in Austria (90 percent of income originates from Austria or income abroad does not exceed a total of 11,000 Euros), can opt for unrestricted tax liability in Austria in their Employee Tax Assessment Declaration (Arbeitnehmerveranlagung). Thereby only the income generated in Austria is taxed despite the unrestricted tax liability. Additionally, personal allowances (such as single-earner allowance (Alleinverdienerabsetzbetrag), single-parent allowance (Alleinerzieherabsetzbetrag), alimony allowance (Unterhaltsabsetzbetrag) and extraordinary expenses are applicable.

Special regulations apply to cross-border commuters with place of residence in Austria working however in neighbouring states and regularly returning to their place of residence to avoid double taxation of their income.

In Austria, income taxes and social security contributions etc. of each employee derived from their employment are deducted at source by the employer and paid directly to the Austrian fiscal authorities or to the responsible social security institution.

“New self-employed”/freelancers, contractors, and self-employed/freelancers with a business license (Gewerbeschein) are responsible for payment of taxes and social security contributions themselves.

Social security contributions of independent contractors are automatically deducted at source by the employer; they however have to pay their taxes themselves.

The Austrian income-tax system is based on progressive taxation rates. This means the more money you make the higher taxes you pay.

Who is liable for tax?

- employees and pensioners with a taxable annual income exceeding 12,000 Euros; taxes are deducted at source by the employer or the pension insurance institution (Pensionsversicherungsanstalt);
- self-employed/freelancers from an annual income exceeding 11,000 Euros
When should you file a tax declaration (without being contacted by the competent fiscal office)?

If your income exceeds 12,000 Euros then you are obliged to submit an income tax declaration (Einkommensteuererklärung) or employee tax assessment declaration (Erklärung zur Arbeitnehmerveranlagung) if

- you have any other income in addition to your taxable income (such as from short-term contracts as independent contractors/contracts on work and labour or from rentals) exceeding a total of €730 then you have to submit an income tax declaration (Einkommensteuererklärung) (form E 1, E 1a);
  Submission deadline: by April 30 respectively up to June 30 of the following year in the case of an online assessment

- during the course of the calendar year, you have at least from time to time earned two or more taxable incomes for which tax was not calculated on the basis of all income for the same period (such as company pension in addition to General Social Insurance Act (ASVG) pension); then you have to submit an Employee Tax Assessment Declaration (form L 1);
  Submission deadline: September 30 of the following year

- your income does not involve taxable income from employment and the annual income exceeds 11,000 Euros, then you have to submit an income tax declaration (Einkommensteuererklärung) (form E 1, E 1a);
  Submission Deadline: By April 30 or up to June 30 of the following year in the case of an online assessment

- your income originates from employment and no income tax has been deducted; (cross-border commuters, foreign pension benefits);
  Submission deadline: by April 30 or up to June 30 of the following year in the case of an online assessment

If you receive income as an independent contractor and have not received a tax identification number yet, you have to register with the fiscal authorities competent for your place of residence without delay. Under fiscal law independent contractors are deemed freelancers. An appropriate form (E 1 and E 1a) will be sent to you. Even if your income is too low to be taxable, you have to fill in and return the income tax declaration form to your fiscal authorities.
  Submission deadline: by April 30 or up to June 30 of the following year in the case of an online assessment

Tax Reform of 2016

Key points at a glance

- starting tax rate is at 25 percent (previously at 36.5 percent)
- there are six tax brackets (previously three tax brackets)
- the threshold for the 50 percent tax rate is at 90,000 Euros (previously at 60,000 Euros)
- the top tax rate is at 55 percent for an annual income exceeding one million Euros
- individuals with income of less than 11,000 will receive annual negative tax of up to 400 Euros (previously a maximum of 110 Euros pensioners will receive for the first time negative annual tax of 110 Euros as a compensation of inflation
- allowance for children will be increased to 440 Euros per year (previously 220 Euros)

What is my net income after deducting wage and salary tax as well as social security contributions?

Example 1:

A family with two children have their centre of vital interests in Austria; both incomes are generated only in Austria; i.e. the tax liability is also in Austria.

His monthly gross income as a salaried employee is 3,000 Euros (payments in kind and allowances are not covered by this example).

After deduction of the wage and salary tax of 441.64 Euros and social security contribution of 543.60 Euros, the net income amounts to 2,014.76 Euros.

Her monthly gross income as a salaried employee is 2,500 Euros (payments in kind and allowance are not covered by this example); no payments in kind can be claimed however she has to commute every day to a neighbouring town which is 22 km away and hence can claim the commuters flat rate allowance (Pendlerpauschale).

The commuter’s flat rate allowance (Pendlerpauschale) serves in Austrian income tax regulations to provide flat rate coverage of daily travelling costs of commuters between their place of residence and place of work.

After deduction of the wage and salary tax of 274.38 Euros and social security contribution of 453.00 Euros, the net income amounts to 1,772.62 Euros.

Furthermore, the family is entitled to family allowance which is tax-free.

Please note: both persons receive the vacation and Christmas bonus payments (13th and 14th monthly salary) increasing their monthly income twice a year.

The tax reduction in 2016 in this example compared to previous year amounts to over 2,000 Euros.

Example 2:

Ms X has her place of residence and centre of vital interests in Austria; she has a daughter and is a waged employee in a production company with a gross income of 1,500 Euros. Being a single parent she can claim the single-earner allowance (Alleinverdienerabsatzbetrag).

After deduction of the wage and salary tax of 3.13 Euros and social security contribution of 256.80 Euros, the net income amounts to 1,240.07 Euros (payments in kind and allowance are not covered by this example).

Furthermore, Ms X is entitled to family allowance.

The tax reduction in 2016 in this example compared to previous year amounts to nearly 500 Euros.

8. SOCIAL SECURITY

Registration with the appropriate social security institution is mandatory; every business pays for each employee and their relative’s social security contributions.

Self-employed with a business license, “new self-employed”, contract assignees have to register with and pay their social security contributions to the competent social security institution.

Employers are responsible for registering their employees with the appropriate social security institution. Every person and their family members are assigned a social security number with the registration. Social security contributions of employees and independent contractors are automatically deducted at source by the employer.

The payment of social security contributions is shared by the employer and employee. The employer is responsible for paying both shares to the responsible social security institution.

The amount of social security contributions (= contribution rates) depends on whether the employee is a blue or white-collar employee, apprentice, minimum-income employee, etc.

In Austria, employees and independent contractors whose income exceeds the low-income limit (€415.72 per month in 2016) are fully covered by social security.

Employees with remuneration below the low-income limit as well as students are only covered by parts of the social security system (accident insurance). Employees with income below the income limit are eligible for voluntary health and pension insurance.

https://www.sozialversicherung.at/ (benefit-related values 2016 (Leistungsrechtliche Werte 2016))

Social security benefits:

- Health insurance including maternity protection: free insurance protection for family members (subject to certain preconditions), cost acceptance for medical treatments, hospital stays, health check examinations, and childcare allowance, sickness benefits etc.
- Accident insurance: protection against accidents at the work and vocational illnesses and their consequences, e.g. invalidity and occupational incapacity etc.
- Pension insurance: old-age pension benefits etc.
- Unemployment insurance: benefits granted during unemployment (these are for instance, unemployment benefit payments, social welfare)

Additional security benefits include:

- Means-Tested minimum benefits as complementary benefit of the social security and/or as a benefit which may be granted when no pension insurance, unemployment benefits are being received or as a complementary benefit to the income support benefit;
- Filial leave benefit is paid either in the case of a family hospice leave, or during filial leave respectively part-time filial leave over the agreed period as an income replacement

8.1 Health Insurance

There are many health insurance institutions (health insurance/social security institutions (Krankenkassen/Sozialversicherungsanstalten)) in Austria; all health insurance institutions are under the umbrella of the Main Association of Austrian Social Security Institutions (Hauptverband der Österreichischen Sozialversicherungsträger): Your competent insurance institution is determined by both the place of residence and occupation. A free choice of insurance institution is not allowed; the competent insurance company will be assigned to you.

Health insurance (Krankenversicherung) covers amongst others free treatment by medical doctors with appropriate contracts with the insurance institutions and hospitals as well as sickness benefits, etc. The prerequisite for treatment at hospitals, outpatients clinics and medical practices is presentation of an e-card (an electronic health insurance card) where all personal data (name, insurance number, etc.) of the insured person are stored. To consult a specialist doctor you need your e-card and additionally a transfer/referral note (Überweisungs-/Zuweisungsschein). Your e-card will be sent to you and your family members within fourteen days by your health insurance company following the registration with your competent health insurance institution. The back of the e-card corresponds to the European social security card. The e-card ensures free-of-charge medical treatment in the European Union states.

Health insurance coverage is applicable when you

- are employed or self-employed (please note: minimum income employees receive health insurance upon application) or
- receive an unemployment benefit/welfare benefit or
- receive a pension benefit or
- or receive a weekly maternity allowance, or childcare allowance
- or receive a filial leave benefit
You may co-insure your family members (amongst others your spouse, partner as household running person, relatives who take on care responsibilities, registered partners, and children/grandchildren/foster children/stepchildren) provided they are resident in Austria. Minors up to 18 years of age are co-insured. Minors (children/foster children etc.) attending schools, vocational training or universities can be co-insured free-of-charge up to 25 years of age subject to satisfaction of certain prerequisites. Spouses/partners with children can be co-insured free of charge. The co-insurance for childless spouses/partners entails an additional contribution rate of 3.4% of the contribution assessment basis of the income of the insured spouse. Exceptions also apply hereto. The employer must be correspondingly informed of planned co-insurance of family members.

http://www.sozialversicherung.at/ (Online guide to co-insuring relatives (Online-Ratgeber Mitversicherung von Angehörigen))
http://svagw.at/ (insurance coverage: relatives of freelancers (Versicherungsschutz: Angehörige von Selbstständigen))

Other health insurance benefits include amongst others: dental treatment, rehabilitation, home nursing, recuperation assistance, health protection benefits and medical check-ups under the mother-child pass system.

Prescription medicines are obtained at pharmacies for a prescription item fee of €5.70 (effective 2016). Patient’s annual medication costs are limited to a maximum of two percent of their net income. When the medication costs exceed this amount then the patient is automatically exempt from prescription fees. Persons with low income can apply for exemption from prescription fees.

Employed persons are registered by their employers with their competent health insurance institution (health insurance/social security institution); self-employed persons (new self-employed/freelancers, self-employed/freelancers with a business license (Gewerbeschein)) have to personally contact their competent health insurance company (Social Security Institution of Trade and Industry (Sozialversicherungsanstalt der Gewerblichen Wirtschaft)).

8.2 Accident Insurance

Accident insurance covers benefits payable as a result of workplace accidents, occupational illnesses and the accidental death of an employee. These benefits include amongst others accident treatment costs, rehabilitation, reimbursements and surviving dependants' benefits (such as surviving dependants’ pensions) but also prevention related benefits.

8.3 Pensions Insurance

In Austria females currently reach pensionable age at 60 and men at 65.

The following applies to EU/EEA citizens and Swiss citizens:

Pursuant to Austrian law you are entitled to pension benefits if you have been self-employed or employed for over one year and have paid pension insurance contributions. Insurance periods below one year will be added to the pension insurance periods obtained in your home country.

8.4 Unemployment Insurance

8.4.1 Financial Benefits

The Public Employment Service Austria (Arbeitsmarktservice, AMS) is responsible for unemployment insurance benefits in Austria (such as unemployment benefits or social welfare benefits).

http://www.ams.at/ (services of the Public Employment Service Austria for job seekers)
http://www.ams.at/ (Public Employment Austria – Benefits)

8.4.2 Receiving Unemployment Benefits from EU/EEA States and Switzerland while Seeking Employment in Austria

If you want to receive your unemployment benefits originating from the EU/EEA zone or Switzerland when seeking employment in Austria, you have to contact your competent public employment service office in your country of origin, apply with them for your unemployment benefits as well as fill in the form U2 (“portable document” U2) and have it confirmed. This form includes the deadline for registering with the local office in Austria and maximum duration of the foreign benefits receipt in Austria.

After registering with the competent local Public Employment Service Austria office, the foreign public employment service will be immediately informed of your registration as a job seeker in Austria. This results in the foreign public employment service releasing payment of your benefits. This is possible for a period of three months – if however your reference period ends earlier (“maximum rate”) then up to this point. The precise duration of this “benefit export” is always determined at the employment service of your home country.

If you have not found employment in Austria within the period stipulated on the form, you remain entitled to your benefits only if you immediately return to your country of origin in good time. It is essential to observe all the information you have been provided on this topic in your country of origin.

http://www.ams.at/ (unemployment benefits within the EEA and Switzerland (Arbeitslosenversicherung im EWR Raum und in der Schweiz))
http://www.ams.at/ (unemployment insurance)

8.4.3 Aggregating Insurance Periods from Employment in the EU/EEA States and Switzerland

When verifying your Austrian unemployment benefit eligibility, insurance periods in the EU/EEA states or Switzerland will also be considered if you had been employed in Austria with mandatory unemployment insurance for at least one day directly before submitting the application (the so-called “one-day rule”). In order to be able to have the foreign insurance periods recognised in Austria it is necessary to have either the portable document U1 filled in and confirmed by the competent public employment service office in your country of origin. In many cases you can apply for this form electronically; being able to provide this form when submitting an application in Austria may accelerate the assessment of the entitlement.

In the case of cross-border commuters the foreign insurance periods are considered immediately – the aforesaid “one-day rule” does not apply to this group.

In order to receive unemployment benefits in Austria, you have to satisfy the prerequisites applicable to eligibility for unemployment benefits in Austria.

Please refer to the Public Employment Service Austria (AMS) website for details regarding prerequisites to be satisfied in order to become eligible for unemployment insurance benefits in Austria (section “Financial Benefits (Finanzielle Leistungen)”).
Periods of self-employment covered by unemployment insurance are also taken in consideration when calculating the unemployment benefits in Austria.

8.5 Means-Tested Minimum Benefits

The means-tested minimum benefits (Bedarfsorientierte Mindestsicherung, BMS) are foreseen for people having no reasonable funds to pay for their living or of their family members. The means-tested minimum benefits amount (rounded up) in 2016 for single adults to 838 Euros respectively a minimum of 151 Euros per child.

Persons receiving means-tested minimum benefits and able to work will be correspondingly noted at the Public Employment Service Austria as seeking employment.

EU respectively EEA citizens are only unrestrictedly entitled to means-tested minimum benefits if they are in Austria as employees or have lived here for more than five years. Citizens of third countries are only eligible to receiving means-tested minimum benefits when they have been legally residing in Austria for more than five years.

The competent district administrative authority (district administrative authority (Bezirkshauptmannschaft), municipal district authority (Magistrat); social council offices in Vienna (Sozialzentrum)) decides whether the means-tested minimum benefits will be granted. This authority also accepts the applications and makes the corresponding payments.

Additionally, the Public Employment Service Austria provides basic information on means-tested minimum benefits. Depending on the agreement with the federal provinces, the Public Employment Service Austria also provides initial applications for means-tested minimum benefits and accepts these.

You can call us at the social line of the Federal Ministry of Labour and Consumer Protection (Bundesministerium für Arbeit, Soziales und Konsumentenschutz, BMASK) at 0800/20 16 11 (Monday–Friday from 8am to 4pm).

9. LIVING WITH CHILDREN

9.1 Maternity Protection

9.1.1 White and Blue Collar Employees, Apprentices and Minimum Income Employees

As a rule, pregnant working mothers are entitled to maternity leave which starts eight weeks prior to delivery and lasts eight weeks after delivery. During this period an absolute ban on employment applies.

Furthermore, for female employees who are not self-employed their contractual employment remains upheld during their compulsory maternity protection period.

Upon confirmation of pregnancy, you should immediately inform your employer. From this point on you are protected against dismissal and termination. During the maternity protection period and during the subsequent period, termination respectively dismissal is only possible in exceptional cases (i.e. closure of a firm) and under court approval.

Salaried and waged female employees generally receive a maternity weekly allowance (Wochengeld) during the compulsory maternity protection period under certain circumstances. The amount of the weekly maternity allowance is calculated on the basis of the average daily net income of the employee during the full three calendar months directly preceding the start of compulsory maternity protection period plus flat rate covering the special benefits. Also female receiving further education subsidies, childcare allowance, unemployment benefits or welfare benefits are eligible to weekly allowance (Wochengeld).

Self-insured minimum income employees are also entitled to a weekly allowance. In this case, the weekly allowance amounts to 8.91 Euros per day (2016).

Details regarding the amount of the maternity weekly allowance can be obtained from the respective competent health insurance institution.

Competent authority:

9.1.2 Independent Female Contractors and Female Contract Assignees

Independent contracts receive weekly maternity allowance interrelated to their income. Beginning from January 1 2016, entitlement to a leave of eight weeks before and eight weeks after child delivery comes into force.

Details regarding the amount of the maternity weekly allowance can be obtained from the respective competent health insurance institution.

9.1.3 Self-Employed Females

An entrepreneurial aid (Betriebshilfe) is foreseen for self-employed women running a business, i.e. replacement labour is provided for the business. Under certain circumstances they are also entitled to weekly maternity allowance. The weekly maternity allowance is primarily applicable to self-employed females with no business license (new self-employed/freelancers).

Such entrepreneurial aid/weekly maternity allowance (Betriebshilfe/Wochengeld) will only be granted respectively provided when the compulsory insurance with the competent health insurance fund remains in force. The weekly maternity allowance in this case amounts to €52.69 per day (2016).

http://www.svagw.at/ (entrepreneurial aid and weekly maternity allowance (Betriebshilfe und Wochengeld))
https://www.usp.gv.at (maternity protection benefits for businesswomen (Mutterschaftsleistungen für Unternehmerinnen))

9.1.4 Mother-Child Pass

At the beginning of pregnancy, you should receive a Mother-Child Pass (Mutter-Kind-Pass), to be used for recording medical check-ups of the mother and unborn child and subsequently for recording vaccinations and check-ups during infancy and early childhood stages. You can obtain your mother-child pass from your gynaecologist, your general practitioner, your district public health office (Bezirksgesundheitsamt), the specialized outpatient services of your district health insurance fund, the outpatient services of hospitals with maternity clinical departments or from pregnancy consultation offices.

The mother-child pass check-ups are a prerequisite for the receipt of the full childcare allowance (Kinderbetreuungsgeld).

Also uninsured persons with no insurance eligibility as a relative can have free examinations covered by the mother-child pass.

http://www.bmg.gv.at/ (brochure: We’re having a baby (Broschüre: Unser Baby kommt))
9.2 Parental Leave, Childcare Allowance and Parental Part-Time Work

Parental/maternity leave (Elternkarenz/Karenz) is deemed entitlement to release from performance obligations under employment contract (Dienstfreistellung) pursuant to the Labour Act (Arbeitsrecht) following birth of a child (also for adoptive parents and starting with January 1 2016 also for foster parents; for the latter only if fostering is linked to no remuneration) as well as after the expiry of the maternity protection period. The maximum duration of the maternity protection pursuant to the Labour Act providing protection against dismissal and termination is up to the day before the second birthday of the child. If you intend to take out a longer maternity leave you absolutely need a written corresponding agreement with your employer.

During the parental/maternity leave you receive no remuneration; hence the childcare allowance (Kinderbetreuungsgeld, KBG) can be received during this time provided that all prerequisites have been satisfied. Every child, including foster and adopted children, is eligible to receiving childcare allowance.

Only one of the parents is entitled to parental leave or both of them in turns. Contract assignees/freelancers are not entitled to maternity leave, however to childcare allowance provided they have satisfied the respective prerequisites.

The amount of the childcare allowance (Kinderbetreuungsgeld) is correlated with many various factors. You can select one of the multiple models when applying for this allowance (selectable from four flat-rate models and one income-linked model). In the case of the very first application, you can modify the selected variant within fourteen (14) days from the date of initial application submission.

The flat-rate childcare allowance is paid when the following prerequisites have been satisfied:

- common household with the child
- at least one of the parents living in the same household with the child is entitled to receive family allowance (Familienbeihilfe)
- their life is centred in Austria
- legal residence in Austria
  - EU/EEA and Swiss citizens who can document their right of establishment (registration certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung))
  - third country citizens with appropriate residence permits pursuant to sections 8 and 9 of the Establishment and Residence Act (Niederlassungs- und Aufenthaltsgesetz, NAG)
- performance of the mother-child pass examinations – five during the pregnancy, five after giving birth

An additional gross income of up to 16,200 Euros per year is permissible to remain eligible for the flat-rate childcare allowance.

Additional prerequisites including preceding employment are deemed applicable to the income-linked model.

The top limit of additional income in the case of the income-linked model is 6,400 Euros over the period during which you enjoy the benefits.

Informing the employer of the paternity/maternity leave periods:
If the mother is the first to take maternity leave then they are to inform their employer not later than on the last day of the maternity protection period on whether they are taking out the maternity leave and if so for how long.
If the father is the first to take the parental leave, they are to inform their employer not later than eight weeks after the delivery of the beginning and duration of the parental leave.

If the father takes out the paternity leave at a later point after mother’s parental leave, then they are to report their paternity leave to the employer not earlier than four months before the start of the desired paternity leave period in order to be protected against termination and dismissal.

Please note:
Childcare allowance is granted only for the youngest child. If another child is born when receiving such allowance, the eligibility to this allowance for the older child ends with the birth of the younger one. Childcare allowance will then be paid for the newborn. The second birth is to be immediately reported to the competent health insurance institution (you are obliged to make this notification). Special regulations apply to multiple births.

Recipients of childcare allowance and their children automatically enjoy the benefits of health insurance.

During respectively after receipt of the flat-rate childcare allowance, unemployment benefits and social welfare may be applied for.

http://www.bmfj.gv.at/ (childcare allowance (Kinderbetreuungsgeld) and unemployment benefits (Arbeitslosenversicherung))
Eligibility prerequisites for EU/EUA citizens and Swiss citizens:

The EEA directive 883/2004 applies to EU/EEA citizens and Swiss citizens. The member state where the parent is employed (employment state principle) is the overriding state responsible for payment of any family benefits. In the country of residence, an equalization payment may be granted if family benefits are lower than in the country of employment.

You can provide evidence of your legal residence in Austria for yourself and your child through the presentation of the registration certificate (Anmeldebescheinigung) or the official photographic identification for EEA citizens (Lichtbildausweis für EWR-Bürger/Bürgerinnen).

Special regulations apply to cross-border commuters.

http://www.bmfj.gv.at/ (childcare allowance – cross-border commuters as well as special regulations within the EU/EAA/Switzerland (Kinderbetreuungsgeld – grenzüberschreitende Sachverhalte sowie Sonderregelungen innerhalb EU/EWR/Schweiz))

Parental right to part-time work:

Parental right to part-time work (Elternteilzeit) is a legally regulated entitlement to reduction of the present total working time and/or change of the current working hours. The entitlement to parental part-time work remains in force no longer than up to the seventh birthday of the child, upon satisfaction of certain prerequisites.

This is however only possible if

- the company has more than 20 employees
- and the employment at the point of parental part-time work has lasted for a minimum of three years without any interruptions (including maternity protection and leave)
- the parent applying for part-time employment lives in the same household with the child

The terms (commencement, duration, extent and conditions) are to be agreed with your employer.

If there is no entitlement to the parental part-time work this can still be agreed with employers up to the fourth birthday of the child.

http://www.sozialministerium.at/ (parental part-time work (Elternteilzeit))

9.3 Family Allowance

The EEA directive 883/2004 applies to EU/EEA citizens and Swiss citizens. The member state where the parent is employed (employment state principle) is the overriding state responsible for payment of any family benefits. In the case whereby both parents are employed in two different countries, the country of residence principle applies, family allowance is thus granted in the country where the child permanently resides.

Children with main residence in Austria are principally also entitled to family allowance benefits. Family allowance benefits must be applied for at the competent authorities.

Competent authority:
- Fiscal office competent for your place of residence
Eligible are

- minors up to 18 years of age
- minors of age 18 if they are in training (apprenticeship, school, college/university, university of applied sciences)
- minors in the time between high-school/A-levels graduation (Matura) and military service, civilian national service or vocational placement if their vocational training will be started respectively continued at the earliest possible point after completion of the service/placement
- families with severely disabled children may also receive the family allowance for a longer period

Children who have come of age are eligible to family allowance up to age of 24 provided that they are in occupation-related training. Under certain circumstances, family allowance can be received up to the age of 25. Under certain circumstances family allowance entitlement remains in force for students up the age of 25.

Any income (e.g. apprentice remuneration) children may receive before their 18th birthday is disregarded. If the earnings of older children exceed a specific annual limit, the family allowance is normally forfeited.

The family allowance amount depends on the age of the child. Child-related special tax allowances and supplements are granted as of the second or further child, or one or more disabled children. You can use the Family Allowance Calculator (Familienbeihilfe-Rechner) to determine your family allowance total.

In a joint household, the parent who is the primary caregiver is entitled to receive the family allowance. Under exceptional circumstances family allowance can also be paid directly to children.

Family allowances are paid every month.

10. EDUCATION

10.1 Education and Training – Overview

Very young and pre-school children are taken care of in crèches (Kinderkrippe) (for babies and very young children up to three years of age) as well as nursery schools and (public and private) kindergartens/child care groups and pre-scholls (Kindergarten/Kindergruppe, Vorschule). The demand for crèches and kindergartens is often greater than the available places. There is a growing trend for very young children to be cared for in very small groups by “day-care parents” (Tageseltern) – especially in small cities and agricultural regions.

Generally education is compulsory for all children permanently living in Austria from the age of six. Schooling is compulsory for nine years in Austria (from 6–15 years of age); attendance of state schools is free of charge.

After children have successfully completed their first four years of compulsory primary school (Volksschule/Grundschule), they may either attend the lower level of a main general secondary school (Hauptschule) – also called cooperative secondary school (kooperative Mittelschule) –, a new secondary school (neue Mittelschule), or the lower level of a secondary academic school (Unterstufe der allgemeinbildenden höheren Schule). In their ninth year of schooling, children may attend a pre-vocational course (Polytechnischen Schule), a vocational intermediate school (weiterführende berufsbildende Schule) as well as the upper level of a secondary academic school or at the upper level of a secondary grammar school (Oberstufengymnasium). The pre-vocational technical school (polytechnische Schule) uses vocational placements and professional theory training to prepare for apprenticeships or vocational schools.

There are also special schools (special needs education/including training) for children with mental and/or physical disabilities or special educational needs which cover the first eight to nine years of schooling (“special needs schools for children with particular fostering needs”). Alternatively, a vocation preparatory year can be taken in the ninth school year; possibly followed by integrative vocational training.

Following completion of their ninth year of schooling, young people have the option of professional training in the form of an apprenticeship (vocational school and apprenticeship – dual training system), of entering the workforce or of continuing their education at a secondary school.

http://www.bildungssystem.at/ (The Austrian education system – please refer to the illustration at the end of the section)

Intermediate-level secondary technical respectively vocational schools, health sector and nursing schools entitle students to exercise an occupation respectively several occupations according to the type of school attended. Graduates of these schools may take diploma and school leaving examinations through extension courses.

Graduation from an academic secondary school or intermediate-level secondary technical respectively vocational school and passing the corresponding school-leaving examination entitles students to enrol in educational colleges, universities of applied sciences, academies, colleges, universities, i.e. tertiary educational facilities.
However, young people and adults who have not passed the school leaving examination entitling to enrolment at universities may still be admitted to higher educational institutions through the secondary educational path (the academic qualification tests (Studienberechtigungsprüfung), the matriculation exam for professionals (Berufsreifeprüfung), Matura examination for vocational trainees (Berufsmatura), or Matura examinations for external candidates (Externistenmatura)).

Special fostering is offered for pupils/students with a first language other than German.

10.2 Initial Vocational Training – Apprenticeships

Vocational training is provided in Austria either through an apprenticeship (Lehre) or school-based education (in intermediate or higher-level secondary technical and vocational schools and colleges which offer practice-oriented instruction).

In Austria, training is offered in approximately 200 occupations. Young people who take up an apprenticeship receive on-the-job training in a company and also attend a vocational school on a part-time basis (dual training system). An apprenticeship lasts between two to four years depending on the apprenticeship trade and ends with the successful completion of a final apprenticeship examination (Lehrabschlussprüfung).

An apprenticeship contract (Lehrvertrag) must be signed at the beginning of the apprenticeship and is to be concluded in writing between the young person (the apprentice) and the authorized trainer; it specifies amongst others training conditions including the duration of the apprenticeship. In the case of minors, the apprentice’s legal guardian is also required to sign the contract.

For the apprentices the Vocational Training Act (Berufsausbildungsgesetz) and respective collective agreement (Kollektivvertrag) is valid. Apprentices are subject to special provisions (unfair dismissal protection, working hours, special youth protection provisions etc.). Throughout Austria, apprenticeship programs are based on standard job profiles.
Apprentices are not paid a salary but receive an apprenticeship remuneration (Lehrlingsentschädigung) normally paid on a monthly basis. The amount of remuneration to be paid to the apprentice is based on collective labour agreements as well as company agreements. Apprentices are entitled to paid holiday amounting to thirty respectively twenty five working days per annum.

If you are looking for an apprenticeship, it is recommended that you contact the nearest branch of the Public Employment Service Austria.

10.3 Further Education

Ongoing training is one of the major prerequisites for a successful career. Amongst the largest training and further education institutions in Austria are the Careers Promotion Institute (BFI, Berufsförderungsinstitut), Trade & Industry Promotion Institute (WIFI, Wirtschaftsförderungsinstitut) and adult educational centres (Volkshochschule).

Careers information centres (BIZ and BIWI) offer both a comprehensive overview of career and schools education and training opportunities in Austria and individual consultation on specific educational and training issues.

Language courses are offered by all large training institutions (WIFI, BFI, adult educational centres) and language institutes.

11. CHECKLIST FOR RELOCATING TO AUSTRIA

Before entering Austria:

Details on the labour market and employment opportunities in the target region:

- http://www.ams.at (Public Employment Service Austria (Arbeitsmarktservice Österreich))
- http://eures.europa.eu (EURES website)
- https://www.help.gv.at/ (checklist for relocating to Austria (Checklist Umzug))

The following documents are required:

- your passport or your personal ID – minors must also have their own passport
- other personal documents (e.g. birth certificate, marriage certificate)
- e-forms/portable documents (uniform European forms for recognition and confirmation of social and employment relevant data) for you and your family
- claiming unemployment benefits originating from your home country: the portable document U2 issued by the employment service of your home country and the confirmation of your employment periods in the home country (portable document U1)
- insurance: your European social security card (e-card) or a comparable form (E 111) or any other insurance protection
- motor vehicle documents: driving license, vehicle admission to traffic certificate, other documents or papers required for admission to traffic (e.g. EU vehicle type approval certificate)
- original copies and German or English translations of certificates, diplomas, work certificates, character references/work testimonials
- curriculum vitae and application in German, CV in German/English, Europass
- your children’s certificates and school attendance confirmations translated into English/German to help your children be placed in the appropriate school grade as quickly as possible

Further issues:

- inform the landlord and authorities (fiscal authorities, utility companies, schools, etc.) in your country of origin about moving to Austria when required
- organise accommodation (apartment, etc.) or book hotel or other accommodation
- sufficient funds are required to cover any unexpected expenses (rent, living costs etc.) for the first month
- provide for health and accident insurance in Austria
- obtain an EU household pet passport before moving your pets

Upon arrival in Austria:

- when you have an employment contract:
  - immediately contact your employer
  - when starting to work request a confirmation of registration with the appropriate social security institution

- when seeking employment:
  - register at your local Public Employment Service Austria (AMS, österreichisches Arbeitsmarktservice) office within the specified period if for instance you continue claiming your original unemployment benefits when seeking a job
The following provisions generally apply:

- Within three (3) days of moving into your new accommodation/house, register with the responsible residence registration authorities (Meldebehörde)
- Register with the competent social security institution (Sozialversicherungsanstalt) (this especially applies to minimum income employees, “new self-employed persons”, contractors, and their family members): receipt of the social security number and social security card “e-card”
- Open a bank account
- Re-register your motor vehicle
- Registration with the competent department of the municipal office (Gemeindeamt) or municipal district authority (Magistrat) if you are going to bring your dog with you (“dog tax” (“Hundesteuer”))
- Register with the competent fiscal office (taxes, family allowance)
- Register for gas and electricity as well as your telephone, television and radio
- Register at school (contact the school)
- Submit registration certificate (Anmeldebesccheinigung) at the administrative authority (district administration authority (Bezirkshauptmannschaft) or municipal district authority (Magistrat))
